

ENERGY MYTH AND REALITY; CHANGING AMERICAN PERCEPTIONS. Thomas Craven,
Tom Craven Film Productions, 316 East 53rd Street, New York, N. Y. 10022

The way we conceive of and use energy in the United States is very slow to change. Why have we been unsuccessful in rethinking of the way we live, the way we conceive of and use energy in the west? What is the role of the scientist, engineer, economist in preparing the nation for the inevitable changes which are coming in the ways we obtain and use energy?
